Brighton window

Guests mingle Saturday night in the Atrium of the Armory at the Brighton Cultural Center, where the Brighton Economic Development Corp. held its 35th Anniversary gala, inviting EDC members past and present. Nearly all of the 230 seats were filled for the banquet, awards presentation and entertainment by quick-portrait artist Brian Olsen. Banner Press / Daily Post photo

PVP extends auditions for productions

Tempted by the bright lights on stage?

Platte Valley Players is extending auditions for two upcoming productions: Thornton Wilder's Our Town and a summer melodrama.

To schedule an audition appointment for either production or for more information, e-mail kellyvan22@hotmail.com

The Players production of the melodrama Dark Deeds at Swan's Place (or Never Trust a Tattooed Sailor), by Tim Kelly, will be staged May 28-30 and June 4-6. Kelly Van Oosbree is directing the "tongue-in-cheek, uproarious, melodrama with no redeeming social value whatsoever."

The plot: Montague Leech and Carlota Castanet make a tidy profit shanghaiing lads from a disreputable tavern. The owner expires, leaving the tavern to his only heir, Bertha Birthright.

Montague must get rid of the damsel. Enter Jack Swan, English sailor with a love for the theater. He offers Bertha protection, and the hilarity mounts, especially after gold is discovered.

Fourteen adults are needed: seven male and seven female, with extras optional.

PVP also is auditioning to fill roles for Thornton Wilder's Our Town, to be staged July 16-18 and July 23-25.
